ROYALTY ARRIVES

At King Edward's Request Blinds in Houses Will Not Be Drawn on Funeral Route.

London, Jan. 24.—The first of 1,000,000 sorrowing pilgrims filed today past the bier of the late King George V. A black catafalque, approached on purple-carpeted steps, in the ancient palace of Westminster. There, the new King Edward VIII and the bereaved royal family left their liege for four days of public homage before the final services and burial next Tuesday at Windsor. As Big Ben boomed 8 a. m. (3 a. m. E.S.T.), the nation's pilgrimage began. When the famous clock strikes 10 p. m. Monday, authorities said, at least 1,000,000 of the dead sovereign's subjects—men, women and children alike—will have joined in this last act of tribute.

Queue of a Mile
A queue more than a mile long, swelled outside the hall by noon today as the first of the ranks, four abreast, marched into the great hall, and past the coffin.

Seven women, among the first to enter, collapsed and were treated at a nearby hospital after passing through the chamber.

Long before last midnight, crowds gathered in the streets about the medieval Westminster Hall, sacrificing their sleep and braving a misty rain to be among the first to pay tribute to their late king.

Huddled in mufflers and heavy overcoats, they loomed throughout the night against the grey stones of the palace, which also houses parliament.

When a rain-washed dawn broke over the rooftops of London, the queue stretched nearly a mile.

Through the great south window of Westminster Hall, the crowds could see the glow cast by the flickering candles where the dead monarch lay, alone with his guards.

Medieval Glory
The age-old rafters looked down once more on the glory of medieval uniforms of the bodyguard.

One of the women of the guard, exhausted by the ordeal, collapsed and was carried from the hall. Without a word, another took his place.

When the great crowd of pilgrims at last surged into the building, it was shepherded through wooden barriers, in lines four abreast, along both sides of the coffin, at an estimated rate of 15,000 persons an hour.

By 1 p. m. more than 40,000 persons had filed past the catafalque. It was announced that King Edward had expressed the wish that his body should not be drawn in the houses along the route of the funeral cortege next Tuesday.

King Haakon of Norway and Queen Maud, the sister of the late King George, arrived after an overnight trip from Oslo and went at once to Buckingham Palace.

Businesses were not asked to close for the day of the funeral, but two minutes of silence will be observed throughout the empire during the final service at Windsor, just west of London.

Both houses of parliament adjourned until February 4 after receiving formal notice of the king's death and presenting condolences to King Edward and the queen mother.

Queen Mother Designated
King Edward himself today designated the widowed Queen Mary, his mother, as "the queen mother," thereby ending a controversy as to her proper title.

By Edward's special command, the queen in the order of service for the funeral in England during the late King George's funeral next Tuesday, read in part:

"We command, O Lord, to Thy fatherly goodness, Mary, the queen mother, and all members of the royal family."

INQUEST ORDERED INTO DEATH OF SEVEN PERSONS

Danville, Ill., Jan. 24 (AP)—Edgar county Coroner W. S. Jones ordered an inquest today to investigate the deaths of William A. Albena, 54, his wife and their five children, found slain in their farm home near S44th, Ill., 25 miles southwest of here.

Remains which recovered the bodies yesterday from the slanting house, believed Albena damaged because of heavy over snow, shot and bent to death the members of his family, then fired the house and shot himself.

Mrs. Albena, 55, was found shot, as were her children Gene, 4, and Shirley Ann, 2. A blood-stained baseball bat lay near the bodies of three other children, John 17, Wilfred, 14, and Forrest, 14.

Rochester Short 75,000 Quarts, But New York City Is Not Worried Yet About Milk Shipments—Bombay, Verona and Hammond Badly Damaged by Fires—State Troopers Issue "Roads Closed" Bulletins—Temperatures in Central West Take New Drop as New Cold Wave Arrives.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 24 (AP)—A milk shortage developed in snow-bound upstate New York today in the wake of a 48-hour blizzard marked by fatalities, fires, and widespread suffering.

How serious the milk shortage may become depends on the speed with which rural roads are opened. Whether it will affect New York city vitally could not be determined, but the situation was not viewed with alarm yet.

The death toll of the storm throughout the state rose today to 15. Ten died in upstate areas, and five succumbed in New York city.

The storm in many parts of the state was the worst since the blizzard of 1888. Travel upstate was still held up today.

Continued cold or snow tonight was forecast for eastern and western New York, but a general improvement in weather conditions throughout the state is expected tomorrow. It was snowing in Albany at 11 a. m.

The delay in the deliveries of milk caused a shortage of 75,000 quarts in Rochester today.

Deliveries in Syracuse were cut in half. The Dairymen's League depot at Ithaca received only half of its usual supply. The important milk plant at Addison, near Corning, reported only 280 cans received yesterday, compared to a daily average of 850.

Milk from this plant goes to New York city.

State police issued an advisory bulletin which reported that several trunk highways were still blocked this morning.

Attorney, Family Marooned
Snow plows and workmen were sent out to try to reach Arthur D. Chamberlain, a Rochester attorney, who with his wife and 16-year-old twin daughters has been marooned in a deserted inn since 3 p. m. yesterday.

Traveling in two cars from their home in Mendon, the family was stalled at the Nivesturt Inn, where they spent last night without food or water.

Chamberlain fought his way through drifts early today to reach a telephone and call for help.

Temperatures ranged from 24 below at Chautauque early today to 10 above at Syracuse. A bitter wind blew, but its force was less than it was yesterday.

Three small villages, Bombay, Verona and Hammond, were badly damaged by fires that spread to several buildings while fire apparatus was held back by snowdrifts.

One of the worst ice jams since 1909 had formed in the lower Niagara river below Niagara Falls today.

The jam extends from the Queens-town, Ont., plant of the Ontario Hydro Electric Commission six miles to the United States coast guard station at Youngstown, N. Y. Officials at the plant said the river had risen 15 feet above normal but that there was no immediate danger of a flood.

The river was open at its mouth at Lake Ontario, coast guard officials said. The ice was jammed above the falls to Port Bay.

110 Dead in 17 States
Chicago, Jan. 24 (AP)—A new blast of Arctic weather slashed down the eastern slope of the Rockies Mountains today with more sub-zero weather for a shivering nation.

Snow barriers deepened over the northwest just as the eastern half of the country was beginning to thaw out from a two-day frigid wave that left at least 110 dead in 17 states.

Temperatures rose slightly from South Dakota and Nebraska to New York as cold gusts swept their force over the Atlantic, but more icy winds whistled down from Canada's Mackenzie river basin.

Snow swept southward from Montana to blanket parts of Wyoming, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Iowa, Missouri and Illinois tonight and tomorrow before moving on to the eastern coast.

Minnesota bore the brunt of the frigid wave for the third successive day, with a low of 44 below zero at Park Rapids.

While snowbound residents in many northern counties to dig themselves out from under the worst blizzard of many seasons, accompanied by numerous record sub-zero temperatures, they wondered whether the coming storm might not be dragging another because of its lagging retreat.

Fury in New England
The fury of the storm apparently spent itself on New England, New York and New Jersey, but subzero frigidities still held many north central and mid western states in its icy grip.

Warmer weather, however, was predicted today for Minnesota, Wisconsin, Missouri, Ohio, Pennsylvania and New Jersey. In the western states were snow was forecast generally.

Hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of equipment was damaged before the storm.

PATTERSON'S ATTORNEYS COMMENCE NEW BATTLE
Decatur, Ala., Jan. 24 (AP)—Attorneys for Heywood Patterson, first of nine negroes in the Scottsboro assault case to receive a prison verdict, started a new fight today to set him free—only a few hours after a jury convicted him.

"We've got a break now and will fight until hell freezes over," said Samuel Leibowitz, New York lawyer who is Patterson's chief counsel.

Patterson's lawyers were heartened by the fact that the 25-year prison term fixed by the jury's verdict late yesterday, was the first instance of a jury agreeing on anything other than a death penalty in the long series of Scottsboro trials.

While Patterson's counsel laid plans for an appeal, a new jury was chosen to begin the trial of Clarence Norris, another of the accused negroes.

Patterson, Norris and the other negroes are accused of attacking Mrs. Victoria Price and Ruby Bates, white women, aboard a freight train near Scottsboro in March, 1931.

Gov. Hoffman's Work On Bruno's Case Goes On Until Satisfied
Asbury Park, N. J., Jan. 24 (AP)—Governor Harold G. Hoffman, in a letter to J. Lyle Kinnmonth, publisher of the Asbury Park Press, made public today, said he will not cease his activity in the Bruno Richard Hauptmann case "until I have determined whether prejudice and bias might have been contributing factors in reaching the verdict at Flemington."

The letter, setting forth six reasons why the governor has interested himself in the man convicted nearly a year ago of the kidnapping murder of Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., was sent Kinnmonth after publication of two editorials defending Hoffman's 30-day reprieve.

The other points made by the governor were:

"It does not seem reasonable to expect that after ruling a man legally guilty the same judges can logically view the case from the angle of mercy and justice."

"It is my hope that defense counsel and others interested in a full solution of the case will be able to secure evidence of sufficient value for consideration in an unprejudiced and unbiased manner."

"It must be determined whether a contributing factor was national clamor for the conviction of some one."

"Regardless of whether the evidence proved guilt beyond a reasonable doubt."

"I want to know whether a public demand that law enforcement agencies 'make good' might in any way have caused evidence to be framed."

Finally, the governor said, he wants to be certain in his own mind "in view of the fact that Hauptmann was taken into custody during a political campaign (in New Jersey) and rushed to this state from New York while the campaign was under way 'with the result that persons prominent in political life were active in the case.'"

High Wind Sweeps Snow Into Main County Roads And Stalls Traffic Again

All County Equipment Called Back Into Service; Roads in Some Places Closed Tighter Than During Storm.

THAW IS NEEDED
Snow in Present Form Does Not Pack; Officials Say Thaw Will Lessen Drifting.

Although Ulster county escaped the big blizzard which raged throughout northern and central New York state last night closing many of the secondary roads and also main arteries of travel, the high wind which swept out of the northwest drifted shut many Ulster county highways yesterday just as the county officials were congratulating themselves on having conquered the big storm of last Sunday and were about to catch a breathing spell and get some rest.

While no additional snow fell in this locality the high wind whipped the snow of last Sunday into deep, heavy drifts which stalled traffic and in many places closed roads tighter than did the original storm of Saturday and Sunday.

Removal equipment was called back into service Thursday morning and spent the day and night out on the highways. Efforts of the department to keep main arteries open were not entirely successful as roads drifted shut immediately after plows had passed. It was with difficulty that the through arteries were kept open and even in places it was impossible to keep the routes open except by constant plowing.

Route 3-W was kept open from the Orange to the Green county line but north of Catskill this route was reported closed below Albany and motorists were warned to keep off last night.

Greatest Difficulty
The greatest difficulty was encountered in the Gardiner and Shawangunk section of the county where highways drifted shut as fast as opened. The snow packed so tight by the high wind that snow plows were stalled and frequently had to call for aid in getting out. This delayed the operation of opening the roads.

Early Thursday afternoon the Woodstock-Saugerties road was reported closed with cars stalled in the drifts. Relief was sent out and this road was again opened this morning.

How long it will remain open depends on the prevailing winds today. This is also true of other roads throughout the county.

It was early Thursday morning that the snow began to drift. At first the drifts covered part of the width of the roads but this gradually spread out and later in the day reports of difficulty began to come in from stalled cars unable to avoid the drifting.

While every effort will be made today to open roads throughout the county the task is a difficult one so long as the snow continues to shift. A day or two of warm weather will be necessary to settle the snow and prevent serious drifting and so long as the snow continues to remain dry the danger of serious trouble during a wind storm will remain.

Persons who are not required to travel would do well to remain near home for the present.

Roads Closed By Drifts
Among the roads which were drifted shut last night was Willow road which was still closed today and will be plowed during the day.

Walker Valley found itself drifted in from Saugerties was closed last night but about 2 o'clock this morning the plows went through. Greenfield road was reported closed early this morning with the plow working on the road stalled in huge hard packed drifts.

From Kingston to Ellenville the road is open to traffic. Several roads in Gardiner and Plattville were reported closed this morning as well as routes in Shawangunk. All available equipment has been sent out and Ben Baldwin, in charge of equipment at the county garage on Gage street, reported that by nightfall he hoped to have practically all roads open if the wind continued to drop. He said that the Ulster county highway department could not hope to

House, 324-61, Overrides President's Veto Of Bonus

F. D. R. DISAGREED

These two right-hand men of President Roosevelt signed the huge bonus bill with big smiles and sent it on for presidential disposition—but there was likelihood that the President would disagree. Vice President Garner is shown (left) and Speaker Byrnes of the house (right) as they affixed their signatures. (Associated Press Photos)

Bill Goes to the Senate Where a Vote Is Not Possible Until Monday

House Action Marks Second Time Within Year That President Roosevelt's Bonus Veto Has Been Tossed Aside.

VETO MESSAGE

Roosevelt Sustains Action in Vetoing Bill By Words of Fear for U. S. Credit.

Washington, Jan. 24. (AP)—A heavily Democratic House voted 324 to 61 to override President Roosevelt's veto of the $2,491,000,000 bonus bill.

Only a two-third majority was needed.

From the cheering representatives, who refused to delay the ballot even a day, the bill goes to the Senate where a vote is not possible until Monday.

There too, leaders forecast the bill will be made law over President Roosevelt's opposition. Senator Clark (D-Mo.), an author of the measure, predicted not more than 20 votes would be cast to sustain the veto against the 32 needed.

It was the second time in a year the house had tossed aside a Presidential bonus veto. The vote to sustain the veto today was only two greater than that cast against the bill's original passage.

Members barely waited to hear the reading of the brief, hand-written veto message before demands of "vote, vote" were shouted on the floor.

Democratic leaders sought to delay the ballot until Monday but were voted down, 189 to 131.

The Senate does not meet until Monday so final action was delayed over the week-end. Leaders there predicted the senators would join the representatives and make the $2,491,000,000 bill law over the President's opposition.

Senator Harrison (D., Miss.), chairman of the finance committee and an administration stalwart, said:

"It is my opinion that the veto will not be sustained. I shall vote to override the veto."

President's Message
In a brief 200 word hand-written message to the House, the President simply referred Congress to his veto message on the bonus last year.

"My convictions are as compelling today as they were then," he stated. "Therefore I cannot change them."

The message, unusually short for such important legislation, follows:

"To the House of Representatives: I return herewith, without my approval, H. R. 5570 entitled 'an act to provide for the immediate payment of World War adjusted service certificates, for the cancellation of unpaid interest accrued on loans secured by such certificates, and for other purposes.'"

"On May 22, 1935, in disapproving a bill to pay the bonus in full immediately, instead of in 1945, I gave in person to a joint session of the Congress a complete and explicit reason for my action."

"The bill I now return differs from last year's bill in only one important respect. It is a compromise between the two bills, and I believe it is a compromise which will result in a more prompt payment of the bonus, and a more complete cancellation of the unpaid interest on the loans secured by such certificates, and for other purposes."

"I am convinced that the members of the Senate and of the House of Representatives to every word of what I said then."

"My convictions are as compelling today as they were then. Therefore I cannot change them."

The sudden action faced almost certain overriding by Congress. Democratic leaders said they predicted the bonus bill would become law—it passed the Senate 74 to 16 and the House 324 to 61.

Only a two-third majority is needed to make law without a president's signature.

The only question in the minds of leaders was when the vote on overriding the veto should be taken. Speaker Byrnes preferred waiting until Monday and the House cracked leader, Representative Clark, agreed.

Indication of the determination of Capitol Hill to make the bill law, despite the veto was the statement of Senator Clark (D-Mo.), one of the authors.

"We'll take it over the veto," Clark said in a statement from last year's veto message which Roosevelt evidently had in mind today.

The vote of the United States House of Representatives today was 324 to 61.

Gov. Hoffman's Work On Bruno's Case Goes On Until Satisfied

Asbury Park, N. J., Jan. 24 (AP)—Governor Harold G. Hoffman, in a letter to J. The reference to the ruling of the judges on the question of mercy was made because six lay judges of the court of errors and appeals and the chancellor also sit as members of the court of juries which has the power, rarely invoked, to commute death sentences to life imprisonment.

Five of the eight members of the court of juries, who denied Hauptmann's plea for mercy on January 11 had a month earlier as members of the court of errors and appeals rejected his appeal for a new trial.

New York Jan. 24 (AP)—The body of an unidentified man, a wound in his left temple, was found in a chamber in front of 145 West 107th street shortly before dawn today. He was about 25. Police said the wound was made by an ice pick or bullet. A trace of blood on the snow led police to believe he was killed elsewhere and his body dropped from a car or automobile.

FLASHES OF LIFE SKETCHED IN BRIEF

By Associated Press.

A Tax Attack. Yazoo county farmer, came to town to pay his taxes. He walked into the sheriff's office and asked how much he owed.

When the sheriff told him, he collapsed in the officer's arms. Physicians say he has little chance to recover from a heart attack.

Spectrum Yolks. General N. H. Milady may now have egg yolks to match her breakfast.

Experts attending the convention of New Hampshire poultry growers say they can provide blue yolked eggs for the woman who eats her morning meal in blue dimity.

Other colors specified are green and brown.

Shoveling Bankers. Hartford, Conn.—Hailed into court for not shoveling snow from sidewalks in front of their homes, several bankers denied they owned the properties. Banks had taken them over, they said.

Judge Jacob Schwolsky sent police officers to notify the bankers that snow shoveling had become a part of their business.

The Sleep of the Just. Denver, Colo.—Mack Bowman, a tamale vendor, lighted a burner to heat his wares and went to sleep.

The burner exploded, blasting the front door of his home from its hinges.

Firemen found Bowman lying near his tamale wagon and called an ambulance.

Bowman sat up. "I'm a pretty heavy sleeper," he yawned. "What happened?"

His Prize. Fort Park, Mont.—Guess what Herbert Holland got out of the send-a-dime chain letters? A bride! Holland said today the lad resulted in correspondence with Mrs. Alma Sprad of Los Angeles, and now they're married.

Manchester, Iowa. Other cities may claim a lower cold spell temperature than Manchester's 25 below, but residents defy them to match this. A dog, frozen to death standing up, was found at the fairgrounds. The cold apparently killed the animal as he walked through the snow.

Crop Rotation? Not For Him. Duncan, Okla. (Ph)—Crop rotation may have advantages, but E. Tuzman has grown corn on the same land for 24 years with results. This year it made 50 bushels per acre, but has made as much as 100, he said. He had two failures.

One of the Washington correspondents says in his column that it seems as if the Republicans don't know enough to put on a winning campaign next year. Maybe not; but Roosevelt is being managed by a bunch which knows everything, and look where he's at!—Yakima, Wash. Republic.

AS COLD HIT NATION'S 'BUSY CORNER'

When the wintry storm that swept most of the country hit New York, pedestrians had to lower their heads and "buck" their way along icy thoroughfares. The mercury went down to two degrees below zero, coldest day of the winter. This was a scene at the corner of Fifth avenue and 42nd street, one of the busiest corners in the world. EASY ICE-BOX DESSERTS

MAKE A DAISY-ROLL IN NO TIME

The "Daisy Roll" One of those blessed desserts that you can get ready the day before and leave to chill in the refrigerator until the last minute!

No wonder the smart modern hostess thinks it's a daisy—quick, easy and inexpensive, and the most luscious thing you ever put in your mouth.

There's what you get together on the kitchen table, ready to begin: ½ pound marshmallows, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 cup light cream, ½ cup chopped walnuts, 2-3 cup diced pitted dates, ½ cup crumbled Graham crackers, 1 teaspoon grated orange rind.

(For large loaf, as illustrated, double the quantities given.) Cut marshmallows into quarters, add sugar, pour cream over, let stand 10 minutes. Combine with rest of ingredients, reserving about 1-2 of the crumbled crackers.

Knead thoroughly, turn on to a sheet of heavy waxed paper, sprinkled with the remaining crumbs, and shape into a roll.

Wrap firmly in the paper, place in the refrigerator for at least 24 hours before using.

Then, the day of the party, take the roll out and garnish it with some marshmallow daisies. Slice up a few marshmallows making three round slices of each, cut each slice in two to make flower petals (of course you know about dipping your shears into cold water now and then when you're cutting marshmallows) and make some daisies along the top of the roll.

For daisy centers, use a green maraschino cherry, or a red one, or a roast almond, or a toasted marshmallow—anything fancy dictates. Candy daisies grow in many strange varieties.

For other simple, delicious, quick desserts, which can wait in the refrigerator while you get on with other matters, see our 48-page illustrated Home Institute booklet, Favorite Refrigerator Recipes. All kinds of recipes for foods that wait for you—soups, sauces, ice-creams, hot breads. A life-saver for a busy hostess.

MODES OF THE MOMENT

Youthful spring
suits follow
grown-up styles.
Liane Heron

Latest designs in spring coats and suits for girls display many definite style details that are also noted in new apparel fashions for women.

Fancy, nubbed tweeds in multi-colored mixtures, rabbits' hair woolsens, sporty checks and plaid fleeces in two-toned color effects are some of the important fabrics used.

Swagger lines to coats, tailored effects, raglan shoulders, inverted pleats and patent leather trims—these are a few of the style details that show in both juvenile and grown-up fashions for the new season.

These latest styles show frequent combinations of brown and yellow in checks or plaids, also gray tweeds with red and black flecks and fancy mixtures in which navy blue, fust, iris, brown, rose or green is the predominating color.

A snappy two-piece spring suit for girls between the ages of 7 and 12 is sketched above. Fashioned of an all wool, nubby surfaced tweed, it has a swagger single-breasted coat with two slash pockets and an inverted back pleat that is stitched half way down, the lower section being left open for a free hemline.

The matching skirt is very tailored, with two inverted pleats at front and four covered trimming buttons.

BABY CARRIAGES FIRST AT NAZI MUNITIONS PLANT

Berlin (AP)—The first thing a munitions factory produces after it has been taken over by the Nazi government is 1,000 baby carriages.

Emphasized by government spokesmen when the Jewish-owned Berlin-Subler works passed into government hands was the thought that henceforth this factory would produce for the fatherland, not for private profit.

As a visible symbol of this, the state commissioner in charge of the plant, which is equipped to produce other articles as well as munitions, called for 1,000 perambulators. These will be donated to households in which, in 1936, new babies burden hard-pressed family budgets.

Besides the 1,000 baby carriages the plant expects to produce a record quantity of army munitions.

THIS NATURAL FOOD GENTLY REGULATES YOUR SYSTEM

Furnishes Needed "Bulk" for Regular Habits

Your doctor will tell you that keeping healthy depends far more on proper diet than on drugs, that common constipation is usually due to insufficient "bulk" in meals, and that patent medicines give you only temporary relief.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies gently acting "bulk" which corrects the cause of common constipation. This "bulk" takes up moisture, forming a soft mass which helps to cleanse the system.

ALL-BRAN gives your body the regular internal exercise it needs to prevent sluggishness. ALL-BRAN also furnishes vitamin B and iron.

Studies on normal men and women have shown that this delicious cereal is perfectly satisfactory. Serve ALL-BRAN regularly for regularity, with milk or cream—or use in cooking.

Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. Consult your doctor if you do not gain relief this way. ALL-BRAN is much more effective than part-bran products. Get ALL-BRAN at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

VIENNA "MOUNTIES" CARRY HEADLIGHTS

Vienna (AP)—After several mounted policemen on night patrol had been struck by automobiles in dimly-lighted streets on the outskirts of this city, the department officials decided to equip the horses with lights.

Headlights were prescribed as the initial addition to the equipment but one official said that tail-lights might be added to the things which a well-dressed police horse must wear.

Several newspaper cartoonists got inspirations from that remark but the police said the problem was serious.

France Wilens Military Honors.

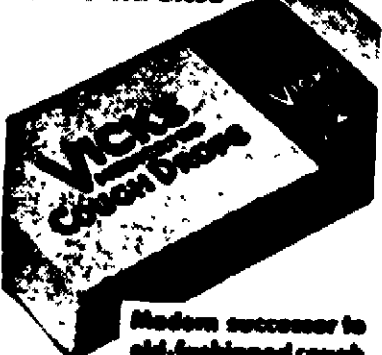

Paris (AP)—French democracy was extended to military funerals when Jean Fabry, minister of war, announced that henceforth all soldiers whether officers or enlisted men, will be entitled to honors when they die, in or out of garisons.

BATH TUB SCARCITY DOOMS ETONS' ANCIENT BUILDINGS

Eton, England (AP)—Top-hatted schoolboys of old Eton, for many centuries the "foundry" of England's greatest statesmen, will peg their hats in bright new dormitories a few years hence.

The school, with buildings dating back to early in the 15th century—so out-moded that aristocratic pupils have to study in dungeon-like cellars and have only one bath for 20 boys—is to be modernized.

The scheme will cost about $1,000,000 and take more than 25 years to complete. As a partial means of financing it, the yearly fees have been raised from $1,150 to $1,225.

Historic old "five" courts in Wick Road have already been pulled down to make way for the first of the new buildings, which will cost $150,000 and accommodate 50 students.

It was just two years ago that John was complaining about the monotony of spending all of the winter months at home. He mentioned a winter vacation, thought it just the thing. But . . .

It was a question of money! How to solve? I thought I'd give ad-shopping a try . . . found it had worked for others. So I started shopping in the DAILY FREEMAN.

It worked! The savings I made this way, shopping where the ads told me the values were highest, grew in just two years to a bank account large enough . . .

All Streets in City Now Open to Traffic; Worked Day and Night

From reports received from other cities between Albany and New York this city is the first city to emerge from the big blizzard of last Sunday with all of its streets open to traffic, and the business sections cleared of heavy drifts of snow. This was accomplished by placing a force of over 500 men and a hundred extra trucks at work together with the two snow loaders of the Board of Public Works. The snow crew worked in three shifts and battled the drifts both day and night.

The work of tackling the snow removal problem started Sunday morning when Superintendent David Conroy realized that with the snow falling fast and piling in drifts the city could become snowbound unless the work of fighting the snow was started and all of the city snow plows, which had just finished the work of ridding the city of a 4 inch snowfall on Friday were turned out. The snow plows ran all day Sunday and last night but the snow that accompanied the snow plow did not leave the streets as fast as they were plowed through.

Monday morning large numbers of extra men were given work and every available truck was placed on the job of removing the drifts from the streets.

Today there was a large crew of men at work together with the two snow loaders and about 85 trucks. The night shift will not report for duty tonight unless an emergency arises and the snow fighting forces will be reduced Saturday morning to about 30 trucks and fewer men.

Mayor Heiselman estimated that the cost of removing the snow has been about $2,500 a day since the first of the week when an augmented crew was placed at work.

Yesterday afternoon the Board of Public Works held a special meeting to consider the snow problem and discussed the purchase of a truck similar to those owned by the county highway department. The board ordered a new cab and extra lights for the grading machine.

Alderman-at-large John Schwenk, who was called to Newburgh yesterday by business said this morning that Newburgh streets were in much worse shape than Kingston and that he was proud of the work that the snow removal force in Kingston had accomplished in opening the city streets to traffic.

Rev. J. Anthony Died At His Home Thursday

The Rev. John Anthony, a retired Methodist minister, died at his home here on Thursday evening at 8:30 o'clock. Had he lived until February 2, he would have been 84 years of age. The Rev. Mr. Anthony had served in the ministry of the Methodist Episcopal Church for 45 years.

His last charge was the pastorate of the Methodist Church in Athens in 1920-21, retiring from the active ministry in 1922, and taking up his residence in this city where for the past 14 years he has been associated with Trinity M. E. Church on Wurts street, actively engaging in all of the services.

The Rev. Mr. Anthony was taken ill last year and had been confined to his home since October.

During the nearly half a century that he had served as a Methodist minister he had served the following churches: St. Louis Conference, 1891, Monett and Neosho; becoming a member of the New York Conference in 1892 when he became pastor of the church at Equinunk which he served until 1894; in 1895-96 he served the church in Edenville; in 1897-98 the Highland Falls Church; 1899 and 1900, the church at Esopus; 1901-02, at Bloomingburg; 1903-04, Rockland and Lewbeach; 1905-08, Patterson, New Fairfield, and Holmes; 1909-10, Rhinecliff and Hillside; 1911-12, Poughquag; 1914-15, the church at Connelly; 1917-18, at New Baltimore; and in 1920 and 1921, his last charge the church at Athens.

Not only was the Rev. Mr. Anthony actively interested in religious affairs while in Kingston but he was also an active worker in the local Red Cross. He made many friends by his genial personality.

The funeral service will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from Trinity M. E. Church.

He is survived by his cousins, Herbert G. Potter and Howard Potter of Glens Falls and Charles H. Anthony of Greenwich.

Origin of Olympics

It is very popular to apply the word Olympic to any great celebration of sport. The word is derived from the name of the plain, Olympia, where the ancient Greek games were held. In those pagan days the ancients credited the gods with being human, and accordingly did all they could to please them. One of the ideas of their games and entertainments was to entertain the deities who dwelt on Mount Olympus. The most famous of the games were those specially arranged for that purpose, and they were named Olympic. A period of four years elapsed between the games. That period was called the Olympiad, and from the year 776 B. C. was used to measure time. The Olympic games thus denoted a very special exhibition, and that is why the word applies to the greater festivals of sport.—Montreal Herald.

Once "Sold" by British

The "surrender" of the Hawaiian Islands in February, 1843, by Cap. George Paulet, of the British Royal Navy, and the restoration of the native sovereignty four months later by Rear Admiral Thomas, R. N., marked a critical passage in Pacific history. Long after the incident, it was explained that the French had been building a fleet at Tahiti to seize the islands. The British move was made to forestall the French, and secure guarantee of Hawaiian independence. Fifty-five years later Hawaii became a part of the United States through voluntary annexation as a territory.

The Mulla Wall

A ba-ba wall is a barrier made by a retaining wall at a place where the ground level is changed. From the upper side this barrier or enclosure is forcible or hardly seen. According to French etymology the name is from "ba" an encirclement of a person. The term appears as early as 1712 in La Bruyere's "Caractere." "Through rivers called ba-ba are openings to the very level of the water having a large and deep ditch at the foot which surprises and makes one cry out: where it takes its name."

TEARS FOR 1,000 FISHERMEN RELIEVED TODAY IN RUSSIA

Gustav Katan Republic, U. S. S. R., Jan. 24 (AP)—Eight days of anxiety for the fate of 1,000 fishermen carried away by an icefield from the shore of the Caspian were relieved today when the coastguards managed to establish wireless contact with the shore.

They reported they had ample food supplies but that the ice field was in danger of breaking up and requested

Immediate help

A strong wind and heavy seas broke the icefield from shore January 14. Since that time, the coastguards have struggled to erect the portable sending apparatus in the possession of one of the fishermen. The men have 1,400 horses with them.

An airplane has been sent to determine the position of the field.

Thirty-eight other fishermen were carried away at the same time on a smaller floe. Nothing has been heard from them.

TWO PERSONS DIE IN FIRE IN NEW YORK EARLY TODAY

New York, Jan. 24 (AP)—Two persons died in a fire which swept early today through the upper floors of a four-story rooming house at 200 East 49th street. A dozen others were carried down ladders to safety. The dead were Joseph Smith, 35, and his wife, Sarah. Firemen found their bodies in their bedroom on the top floor.

Although hampered by bitter cold, a strong wind and icy streets, firemen brought the flames under control within half an hour. Occupants of the building who escaped had time only to don scant clothing. Eight of them required treatment for exposure.

In West Virginia the Grange members in one rural community turned out in a body, repaired and painted the church and bought a new stove for it.

THE DAILY FREEMAN

U. S. Neutrality Bill Ready to Emerge from House Foreign Group

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—The administration's neutrality bill was ready to emerge from the House foreign affairs committee today, with indications some members will struggle later to make it more drastic.

The measure may be considered on the floor of the House next Wednesday or Thursday.

Chairman McNamara (D. Tenn.) said the measure, designed to keep America out of foreign wars, is not for committee approval without a change in the major provisions.

Some members indicated, however, that they are ready to fight on the floor to make mandatory a provision which now would give the President discretion in clapping down embargoes on certain materials. These materials, while not munitions are useful in war.

The legislation was moving slowly in the Senate foreign relations committee. Chairman Pittman (D. Nev.) expressed hope that it would come out in a couple of weeks.

Others forebode long consideration either in committee or on the Senate floor. The Senate committee gathered today for another meeting with Secretary Hull in hope of reaching an agreement on the extent to which traditional freedom of the seas should be limited in the new law.

As the House measure stands, it would provide mandatory embargoes on shipments of arms, ammunition and implements of war to belligerent nations, permit discretionary embargoes on abnormally large exports of materials and commodities that could be turned to war uses, forbid loans and credits to warring governments except those required for normal trade.

There were indications that some House committee members would bring before the entire chamber the question of exempting present belligerents—Italy and Ethiopia—from the legislation, on grounds it would be unneutral to alter neutrality rules during a war.

The committee has voted 12 to 8 against the proposed exception.

House Overrides President's Veto

safe but it can not ultimately be safe if we engage in a policy of yielding to each and all of the groups that are able to enforce upon the Congress claims for special consideration.

White House aides said Mr. Roosevelt broke precedent of a quarter of a century and sent his message to Capitol Hill in his own handwriting.

While the veto did not come as a surprise, the manner of its sudden transmission to Congress today upset some calculations.

Earlier in the day at a press conference, Mr. Roosevelt had smilingly declined to discuss the bonus.

The Senate last year upheld the veto after the House had overridden the personally presented plea of the President against the legislation.

CAST OF CHARACTERS FOR THE MOCK TRIAL MONDAY EVENING

Monday evening, January 27, the Craftmen's Club of Kingston Lodge No. 10, F. & A. M., will give a mock trial at the conclusion of a chicken dinner which will be served at 6 o'clock and which will be open to the public. Tickets are in the hands of the committee and may be either obtained in advance or at the door on the entrance to the dinner. The price of the ticket includes the mock trial.

The cast of characters for the Mock Trial will be as follows: 1. M. Sensitive, plaintiff, William G. Newkirk; 2. Salomando Spaghetti, defendant, Paul Zucca; 3. Gordon Wines, plaintiff's attorney, N. LeVan Haver; 4. Roderick Ravenwood, defendant's attorney, Henry Klein; 5. B. Crusty, judge, Roger H. Loughran; 6. Oliver Oliveoil, clerk of the court, Henry D. Darrow; 7. LeRoy Lightkeeper, plaintiff's witness, William E. Mollett; 8. Cornelius Kicker, plaintiff's witness, Paul F. Torpeking; 9. Stanley Sulteto, defendant's witness, Bernard Cottine; 10. Ludwig Booborum, defendant's witness, Herbert E. Thomas.

It has been reported that the action which is to be tried before the court is for an injunction and damages, the plaintiff seeking to stop the defendant from playing music at his residence during the time of night which are complained of and also seeking to recover $10,000 damages. The claims on either side will be hotly contested for the defendant will seek to impress the court and jury with the fact that his music is of the highest grade and that any neighbors who heard it should be expected to pay instead of seeking damages. In the course of the trial various examples of the music as played, and as it ought to be played, will be offered for the judgment of the jury, who will be chosen from those present. It is expected that Oliver Oliveoil, clerk of the court, together with Judge Crusty, will experience considerable difficulty in keeping order in the court room, for it is rumored that the course of the trial is interrupted with a large amount of humor. As all of the characters are well known in the community, the interest exhibited will insure a large attendance.

To Court of Appeals Albany, N. Y., Jan. 24 (AP)—The question whether public funds can be used for tax reduction purposes will be carried to New York state's court of appeals for final decision. The appellate division has granted permission to the Public Service Commission to carry to the state's highest tribunal its attempt to prevent the village of Bannockburn from applying public funds to power plant for tax reduction.

COLORADO AQUEDUCT IS GOING FORWARD

Provides Water System for Southern California.

Los Angeles—The Colorado River aqueduct, which has been called the greatest domestic water supply system in the history of engineering, is entering its fourth year of construction and is 26 per cent completed. Water will probably start to flow out of the Colorado and into southern California, defying gravitation and overcoming mountains and deserts, in December, 1938.

The aqueduct will actually cost more than twice as much as Boulder dam and the engineering problems which it presents are far greater. The two are linked together, however, since the aqueduct would not have been feasible without power from the dam.

Simply stated, the function of the aqueduct project is to take water from the river above Parker, lift it a total of more than 1,000 feet, carry a billion gallons a day, or 1,500 cubic feet a second, over 242 miles of almost uninhabited mountains and deserts and distribute water at the southern California end through 150 miles of subsidiary conduits.

The district that will benefit by the aqueduct has an area only one third of 1 per cent of the entire main Colorado river basin above the Mexican line, but it has five times the population. Yet without vast additions to its normal water supply most of it would be of little use except for grazing cattle—which is what the Spaniards did use it for.

Obstacles Overcome. Engineering, financial and legal difficulties were numerous; Arizona fought to the last the exportation of water which its citizens believed necessary to its own welfare. Now the goal is in sight.

The enterprise was taken over from the city of Los Angeles in 1928, after more than a hundred preliminary surveys had been made by the Metropolitan water district, a governmental division of the state of California created for the purpose and composed of thirteen municipalities in the southern California area or south coastal basin, as it is known geologically. Shortly after the federal government decided to build Boulder dam the engineers for the district settled upon the Parker aqueduct route and in December, 1932, construction operations were begun.

To finance the operation the district voted a bond issue of $230,000,000, of which the RFC committed itself to take a total of $80,000,000. Later issues have been sold to the PWA to finance the construction of the Parker dam, at an estimated cost of $10,000,000. It is believed that the total bond issue will be enough to pay in full for the aqueduct, the power transmission lines, the pumping plants and the distribution system in southern California.

Five Pumping Stations. In the large, the project is easy to understand. The Parker dam, constructed with water district funds under the supervision of the United States bureau of reclamation, is 135 miles below Boulder. It will impound approximately 717,000 acre feet—or enough to cover that many acres a foot deep.

Since the water level in the reservoir will be lower than the major portion of the area to be served and much lower than the highest portions of the desert crossed by the aqueduct, five separate pumping stations are necessary along the route. Power for the first of these, at the intake, will be generated at the Parker dam. Power for the others will be brought from Boulder dam, taking 30 per cent of all the energy generated at that dam.

To bring the power from Boulder the district will construct a 235-mile transmission line, carrying current at 220,000 volts. This detail of the big job will cost $2,500,000.

The project is expected to pay for itself out of earnings over a period of 50 years. That it will be worth to southern California far more than it costs no one doubts. The future of this part of the state is dependent on water.

Spectacular Procedure Succumbs to Progress. Honolulu—Shipping beef cattle from the ranches on the "Big Island" of Hawaii to the markets in Honolulu is a spectacular procedure.

Because there is no wharf at Kaneohe, the "beef boat" Honolulu has to anchor offshore and wait for her cargo of beef to be swin to the vessel.

Hawaiian cowboys, who, by the way, are among the best riders and ropers in the United States, urge the animals through the surf. The steer's head is then tied to a floating buoy or rope and towed to the waiting steamer, where they are hoisted aboard ship by cranes raised under their bodies.

This method, picturesque as it is, will soon be obsolete, as cattle are now being landed on the steers can be hoisted in a more dignified manner.

MARKETS FOR FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

New York, Jan. 24 (AP)—(State Dept. of Agriculture and Markets)—The demand and trading on fresh fruits and vegetables was generally light because of the near zero weather.

Old crop white potato demand was very light and in the absence of any important trading on account of the cold weather, the market situation and values were undefined.

Jobbing transactions on 50 lb. sacks yellow and red onions U. S. No. 1, were reported at $1.15-$1.30, fair quality and medium size brought 90c-$1.10.

Topped, washed carrots in bushel baskets wholesale from 75c-90c, in 50 lb. bags 75c-85c and unwashed in 100 lb. bags brought $1.15-$1.25.

Fifty-lb. sacks of Danish white cabbage 55c-65c for the best and 40c-50c for poorer. Red ranged from $1.25-$1.75 for the best and 75c-$1.12 1/2 for poorer.

The demand for apples was very light, nevertheless, the undertone of the market was steady for attractive quality, carefully graded fruit of most varieties. Fresh receipts were light, but fair supplies were on hand from previous arrivals.

Western New York Baldwin apples, N. Y. U. S. grade No. 1, 2 1/2-3 1/2 inch minimum and upward brought $1.15-$1.25 per bushel basket or open box. Tokyo, Jan. 21 (AP)—Numerous new frontier incidents between the Japanese-occupied state of Manchuria and Soviet-occupied outer Mongolia drove the Pan Asian border controversy today toward an apparent climax. A Soviet (Japanese) news agency dispatch from Hankow, capital of Manchuria, said the recovering Chinese brought a vigorous protest from the Manchurian foreign office to outer Mongolia, considered by officials as a "virtual" war warning.

Corn Belt States Called Vote Basket Of Nation for 1936

Chicago, Jan. 24 (AP)—A political survey of the corn belt states, the "bread basket of the nation," pre-empted a lively curtain raised for the 1936 campaign and coined a new term today—the "vote basket of the nation."

Home of agricultural unrest, scene of historic defections from the major parties, middle west support long has been regarded essential to national party success and in 1936 it seems to have taken on even a more important aspect.

On the Democratic side, activity centered on efforts to consolidate and hold support for the New Deal and the Roosevelt administration. Intraparty strife, in Illinois amounting to undiagnosed bitterness, caused speculation as to whether the scars would heal after the April primary selected state issues, and the national campaign swung into stride.

Republican activity in behalf of presidential nomination possibilities resulted in definite alignments which could not be forecast.

Illinois, Minnesota, and Michigan commanded attention. Democratic strife within the states has developed explosive situations.

In Illinois high feeling and bitterness, developed because the powerful Cook county Chicago committee, drew its support from the party's one term governor, studious, legal minded Henry Horner.

In Minnesota and Michigan, Democrats were concerned with squabbling which raised the issue of whether two delegations should be sent from each state to the national convention.

Dapper Martin L. Davey, governor of Ohio, who has clashed with the National Democratic administration in the past, has assured President Roosevelt that everything was harmonious.

Senate Agrees on Revised Farm Bill, Is Secret on Details

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—A Senate agricultural sub-committee of five Democrats today unanimously agreed on a revised farm bill to replace the AAA, but members were bound to secrecy on its details for the time being.

This action was announced shortly after President Roosevelt set making agriculture "as productive as it was 100 years ago" as the New Deal's goal and expressed a hope it could be done within the Constitution.

Secretary Wallace, who dropped in on the group as it went over amendments drafted and tonight, came out smiling and told reporters, "Everybody's happy."

He added that this meant the five members of the sub-committee, himself and Chester C. David, farm administrator.

Zero Weather Still Grips City and County

Kingston and Ulster county is still in the grip of zero weather, which has tied up all river traffic with the exception of ferry service between this city and Rhinecliff. Ferry service at Poughkeepsie is also operating. While ferry service is still being maintained here the ferry has found difficulty in keeping close to schedule. Yesterday the tug Rob went out into the river and broke up some of the ice, but at the ferry office here it was said that the ferry was able so far to break up the ice that formed during the night.

All steamer traffic is tied up and the tract that had been kept open all winter by river steamers was frozen over.

Temperatures as low as 8 below were reported in exposed places here.

"Sure Shot" Freer Trims His Regents

Paul "Sure Shot" Freer, mascot of the Kendall basketball team, who tips in the deuces like Johnny Zeeh, Tony Debrosky or any of the other stars of the club when he gets into the game, had his "eye" with him when he took Regents' examinations this week.

Freer dribbled his decimals, cut his fractions, shot his addition and picked off his long division so well that he earned 100 in his arithmetic. In spelling "Sure Shot" got 92 and 95 in geography. He hopes to pass his other grade school exams in June and enter Kingston High next fall.

Basketball has been an incentive to Freer. "Unless you study, know your lessons and pass your Regents you can't play with the Kennells." Manager Eddie Coughlin told Paul. The youngster went to work on his books and it must be agreed upon that he didn't do so bad.

Freer has a yen for figures and can remember major league batting averages and other statistics without any effort. He has followed the records of Babe Ruth practically from the time the Bambino started his career and has the figures pretty well memorized. Lou Gehrig is another favorite with "Sure Shot", and whenever he belts a homer, Freer compliments him by postcard.

Petit Larceny Charged

William Connelly of 55 Elsworth avenue, Mechanicville, a former employee at the Johnston gas station at West Park, will be given a hearing this afternoon before Police Justice Henry E. McKenize at Port Ewen on a charge of petit larceny. The charge arises out of a alleged taking of $70 from Johnston where Connelly worked. On December 20 the complaint was made and Sergeant John E. Lockhart of Highland attempted to locate Connelly. It was not until several days later that Connelly was located in Mechanicville and served with a warrant of arrest. He was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Charles Pollack of Waterford where cash bail in the sum of $50 was given and a hearing was set down for this afternoon before Judge McKenize at Port Ewen.

"BUY WITH CONFIDENCE"

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By CLAUDE R. JACOBS

New York, Jan. 24 (AP)—Wall Street was less inflation-minded today and the majority of stocks backed and filled in a rather nervous market.

Last buying of mining issues was resumed at the opening, and the ticker tape, for awhile, was unable to keep pace with floor transactions. Profit taking, after the last two surging sessions, quickly whittled down prices and the metal group shaded or cancelled its advances. The activity turned quiet.

Airplane equities, led by Douglas with a spurt of about 3 points to a new high, were again favorites. Boeing, United, Curtiss-Wright "A" and Sperry edged up fractions to a point. Improvement was also shown by Westinghouse, American Radiator, General Motors, Phelps Dodge, Dome, Silver King, P. S. Smelting, Cerro de Pasco, du Pont, Schenley, Montgomery Ward and General Electric. The utilities, rails, steels and motors were backward.

Made in France

New York, Jan. 24 (AP)—Publication of the New Testament in French, for use in France, the largest of the Christian Bibles, begins in 1936 the number of languages in which the Bible or some part of it has been printed. The American Bible Society announced today that the new edition had been in the country another's work and which was so large for that purpose. J. E. Houston, country editor, has taken one of the smaller duties for his office.

One reason Mr. Houston had the old book removed was because he does not like the new book about him given to be in it. The old book which had been in use for many years and was well liked with good, pure and other editions was printed with other editions which played over the pages which had been in the old book. Another but less important reason for removal of the old book was the fact that the new book was in the new book and given to be in it. The new book was in the new book and given to be in it. The new book was in the new book and given to be in it.

Investigate Holdup At Walkill Drug Store

Investigation has been under way by Sergeant Lockhart of the State Troopers for several days in an attempt to solve the hold-up at the L. C. Edsal drug store in Walkill Tuesday evening when an armed bandit entered the store just as Mr. Edsal was closing up for the night. The bandit entered the store at the closing hour and with one hand in the pocket of his sheepskin coat he demanded the contents of the cash drawer.

Edsal was startled by the sudden intrusion and made no resistance when the bandit took a handful of bills from the drawer and then after warning Edsal not to move for five minutes backed out of the store and departed in a car which had been parked outside. In which direction the car left he was unable to tell the Troopers. He remained in the store for five minutes and then gave the alarm. Snow blocked highways probably hampered the bandit but also prevented speedy arrival of the officers to make an investigation. When the Troopers arrived they were unable to find out in which direction the man went. From the money till $15 was missing.

The bandit was described as a man about 20, dressed in blue overalls, black felt hat and a sheepskin coat.

Labor Leaders Look To Mine Convention

Washington, Jan. 23 (AP)—Labor men looked to the United Mine Workers convention here next week for the next development in the A. F. of L.'s craft union vs. industrial union fight.

Some observers expressed an opinion that John L. Lewis, leader of the industrial unionists, may obtain his union's authorization to write his own ticket for the course the miners should pursue in the next few years of the fight.

If the union should do this, some thought, Lewis would make an even stronger fight than he has against the craft union system.

This discussion in labor circles came after the A. F. of L. executive council's demand in Miami, Fla., that Lewis and his industrial union associates dissolve their committee to promote organization of mass production industrial workers by industry rather than by craft.

Informed of this move, Lewis declared: "The mountain labored and brought forth a mouse."

"After all the rumblings and consultations at Miami for the week past, the unorganized workers of the country had a right to expect that the A. F. of L. in its own interests, would extend a sympathetic hand of assistance rather than a churlish denunciation of these organizations in the Federation which are trying constructively to help the cause of labor and the common people in this country."

Roosevelt Smiles At Silver Rumors

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—President Roosevelt smiled off New York rumors of silver revaluation today with the remark to reporters that he had never heard of the purported move by the government.

Asked about persistent rumors of a new monetary move—embracing possibly gold also—by the government, the President smiled again and repeated his tip to newsmen to keep out of the market.

He first offered this tip when told that stock prices were increasing on the market on the basis of rumors of silver revaluation which would jump the current value of the metal above the present $1.29 an ounce.

He described the report as another one of those things.

Questioned at his press conference about a rumor of the establishment of a free gold market he smiled again and agreed that the word free gold sounded good. But Mr. Roosevelt offered no further comment.

He was asked if there were any impending moves in international currency stabilization. The President replied that he did not think any conversations were going on along that line just now.

Improvements Made By Clerk of Board

Fred Stang, clerk of the board of supervisors, has made a number of improvements in the office of the clerk in the court house. The newest rail-top desk which has been a landmark in the office for many years has been removed. In place a large flat-top desk has been installed to give additional working space. The desk is one which had been in the county auditor's office and which was so large for that purpose. J. E. Houston, county auditor, has taken one of the smaller duties for his office.

One reason Mr. Stang had the old desk removed was because he does not like the new desk about him given to be in it. The old desk which had been in use for many years and was well liked with good, pure and other editions was printed with other editions which played over the pages which had been in the old book. Another but less important reason for removal of the old desk was the fact that the new book was in the new book and given to be in it. The new book was in the new book and given to be in it. The new book was in the new book and given to be in it.

Italy Warns Sanction Nations That the Pact Endangers Europeans

Rome, Jan. 24 (AP)—Italy warned the sanctionist nations of the world today that Great Britain's action in arranging a Mediterranean security pact constituted a "danger for European peace."

A memorandum prepared for Geneva distribution to the sanctionist powers protested that Great Britain had acted outside the League covenant in initiating the Mediterranean discussions.

The move, Italy contended, was made in the face of Italian assurances that she had no desire to drag a "colonial conflict" into a European war.

Italy had served warning at Geneva, two days ago, that she would protest the mutual assistance pact between Great Britain, France, Turkey, Greece and Yugoslavia.

Disclosure of the 5-power agreement to pool military, naval and air forces against any Italian attack was made officially through the League in the form of a British memorandum published Wednesday.

Yugoslavia's adherence received the approval of the other two members of the Little Entente—Rumania and Czechoslovakia.

Today's Italian memorandum charged that Britain, in beginning the interchange of assurances, acted on her own initiative as head of the League of Nations.

With the Italian Army.

With the Italian army at Neghelli, Ethiopia, Jan. 20 (by Courier to Mogadiscio, Italian Somaliland, Jan. 24)—General Rudolfo Graziani, commander of Italy's southern punitive forces. Personally led his troops into this capital of Galla Borana today.

There was no opposition. The capital, which in reality is a stockaded village, was deserted.

The Italian victory at Deidai apparently had thrown the Ethiopians into headlong panic.

The Italian attack has been a daring campaign.

Graziani has led his men on a six-day drive straight through the heart of Ras Desta Demtu's army. The Ras had hesitated to attack after months of preparation.

As a result, the Italians now hold possession of all the water holes within 250 miles of Dolo.

Italy's "Hell on Wheels" column has seized the water holes in this arid, foodless region, expecting the enemy to "come to us."

High Italian commanders told this correspondent the army of Ras Desta, son-in-law of Emperor Haile Selassie, was completely disbanded and that Ras Desta and his Belgian aide were fleeing on mule-back.

The Italian column of armored cars and tanks, carrying machine guns and mountain cannon, smashed Ras Desta's defenses from Dolo 110 miles into the interior in 80 hours.

Ras Desta abandoned piles of rice and supplies after two nights of dusk-to-dawn fighting.

Italian soldiers banded their knapsacks and supplies on the sides of their trucks as shelters against the bullets which fell like hail.

Pressing into the interior, we passed numbers of Ethiopian dead, scattered over the Veldt.

The capture of Ras Desta's splendidly-equipped radio outfit, hidden in a cave at Deidai, was expected by the Italian command to hinder any reorganization of the enemy army.

Italy's famous regiments, like the Genoa Dragoons, organized for speedy maneuvers, are proving effective in the desert.

Lucille Horan Takes Stand to Save Herself

Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 24 (AP)—Lucille Horan, former Broadway showgirl, saying she was "dreadfully nervous," went to the witness stand today as her own chief witness in her second degree murder trial.

Accused of shooting her husband, Frank Horan, she testified in a low but clear voice of her life and events leading up to the shooting.

The former New York dancer said she was born in Scranton, Pa., and that Horan, whom she shot last August 14, was born there, too.

She said, "I first went to New York eight years ago. John Lagatta, the artist, one of the best in New York, gave me my first job of posing and he sent me to others. Later I got a job in a floor show. One night Thomas Sullivan was in the audience. She offered me a job and I went to work for her."

OBSTACLES IN WAY TODAY OF LIE-DETECTOR TEST ON BRUNO

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 24 (AP)—Legal obstacles today appeared to block the way to a lie detector test for Bruno Richard Hauptmann although it has the approval of Gov. Harold G. Hoffman.

After conferring yesterday with Dr. William Moulton Marston, of New York, one of the originators of a device to test veracity by "blood pressure symptoms," the governor said:

"Personally, I would like to have the blood pressure tests made in the hope that it might aid in securing information that may clear up some of the doubts held by many people. But I do not know how a test could be legally made without an order from Justice (Thomas W.) French."

Should Justice Frenchard—who presided at the Hauptmann trial for the slaying of the Lindbergh baby and sentenced him to die, grant such a test, it would have no status in New Jersey criminal procedure, legal authorities pointed out.

Congressman Henry Stewart says: "Thomas Jefferson founded the American party and Franklin D. Roosevelt was the first President of the United States."

Farm and Home Bureaus

Shokan

Shokan, Jan. 24—The Shokan Home Bureau met Wednesday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Harold Davis in Olive Bridge. The business session was opened by Mrs. Floyd Merrihew of Ashokan, chairman of the local bureau. Mrs. C. H. Weidner, secretary, made her report and also read the treasurer's report. The matter of starting a circulating library for the benefit of Home Bureau members was taken up and it was voted to delegate Mrs. Weidner to send for a nucleus of 50 books, to be secured from the library extension department of the state department of education. Each member agreed to lend a book to the library which will be in charge of Mrs. Nathan Greenberg of Ashokan. The meeting was not largely attended, due to the bad condition of the roads. Members present were: Mrs. LeRoy Davis, Mrs. Floyd Merrihew, Mrs. Clyde Winchell, Mrs. Harold Davis, Mrs. Herman Weidner, Mrs. Nathan Greenberg and Mrs. George Sticker. The next meeting of the bureau will take place at the home of Mrs. Sam Friedman in Ashokan, at a date to be announced later.

FIRST COASTING ACCIDENT OF SEASON REPORTED HERE

Robert Well, 5, son of George W. Well of 28 Livingston street, sustained a cut on the head which was treated at the Kingston Hospital this morning by Dr. Jack Lehnert. The boy and his brother, William, were coasting down the Hasbrouck avenue hill, when a car came out of a side street. The driver of the car halted his machine but the boys on their sled were unable to steer clear and ran into the auto. Both boys were taken to the hospital, but William was not hurt. This was the first coasting accident reported here this winter.

Kingston Leads American League, Remains Idle Until Wednesday

KINGSTON, Jersey Reds and Passaic have proven, during the first two weeks of the second half race of the American Basketball League championship, that their clubs have been fortified to the point that they now give every evidence of being three of the strongest in the league tournaments.

During the first half of the season the Philadelphia Hebrews, New York Jewels and Brooklyn Visions had everything apparently their own way with the result that the race was practically a three-cornered contest between them, with the other clubs in second position.

By judicious changes Kingston, Jersey Reds and Passaic have changed the personnel of their outfit until, at the present moment, they are evidencing well-balanced strength in all departments. During the past week Kingston broke even with the Jersey Reds in a brace of games, but defeated the Jewels on the road. The Jersey Reds, in addition to a split with Kingston handed the Visions a one-sided defeat on the Brooklyn court. Passaic broke even with Philadelphia.

While it seems strange to have three such formidable combinations as the Philadelphia Hebrews, New York Jewels and Brooklyn Visions laboring in the second division, this condition has only been brought about by the greater strength manifested by the present three power-makers. All of this augurs well for one of the most spirited tournaments in the history of the American Basketball League as the six clubs at present comprising the circuit appear to be as evenly matched as possible.

Missions Defeat The Postmen, 26-20

The long-awaited battle between the Comforter Missions and the Kingston representatives of Uncle Sam was staged last night at the Comforter Hall, with the churchmen getting the better of the argument by six points, 26-20. The game was a rough and tumble affair from the starting whistle. At times it clocked resembled the Jersey Red game of Wednesday night. At half time the Missions led, 11-7 but the Postmen tied the score with three minutes to play on Eddie Noonan's lone basket. Two long fields by Follette and Elkhay and a push-up by Jim Every decided the issue.

In the first game of the evening, the high-powered Comforter Aces trampled the once unbeatable Five Fingers, 30-19. The main feature was the superior foul shooting of the Aces, who converted 12 out of 20 free tosses compared with three points for the Fingers.

The first session of the new boxing class now being conducted at the Y.M.C.A. was held Wednesday evening with an attendance of seven. Those who attended the class were Johnny Murphy, Jim Myers, Ed Mianian, Al Flanagan, Ned Swartz, George Kelley and Hal Decker. The training of the first session consisted of shipping rope, weight pulling, shadow boxing, medicine ball throwing, gymnastics and running. High School in DUSO Tilt With Monticello At Auditorium Tonight

KINGSTON High School, which has the honor of playing on the finest basketball court (the Municipal Auditorium), will have Monticello as its opponent tonight in the first league game at home. The Maroon and White is expected to remain undefeated, giving them three successive DUSO wins. At Liberty tonight Newburgh will take part in what will probably be the closest fought game of today's schedule, with Liberty favored to come out on top by a small margin. Middletown should have an easy time at Ellenville.

Monticello so far has lost to Liberty, 32-10, and won from Ellenville, 12-7. Captain Dan Levitan is their big gun, having accounted for 13 out of the 22 points scored by the team. Levitan is one of the four veterans that Coach Summerville will have to call on to oppose the Klasmen.

Lou Glenn has overcome his ankle injury sufficiently and took part in yesterday's workout. Present indications are that he will be among the starters. Charlie Bock is expected to continue his high scoring while his brother Eddie is counted on to regain a top position in point getting, after being unheard of in last week's game.

The Kingston High School Athletic Association has greatly reduced the price of admission in order to induce a greater attendance from the student body and the general public. Now that Kingston has the means to handle a large turnout tonight's game is expected to pack them in.

The Jayvees will hook up with the Five Fingers in what is promised to be a hectic preliminary. The high school representatives will be Banks, Hartford, Argueles, Nowell and Silverberg. The Fingers will have "Red" McDermott, Frank Egan, "Elmer" Fitzgerald, "Chappie" Cooper, Al Stiles, "Duke" Bitner and Johnny Gilday to call on. The preliminary is scheduled to start at 7:30.

Probable Varsity Lineups: Kingston—E. Bock, Capt. rf; C. Bock, lf; Bruce, c; Belcher, rf; Glenn, lg.

Monticello—Levitan, Capt. rf; Wolf, lf; W. Stanton, c; Lipshitz, rf; Brodowsky, lg.

Battery A's line-up in the basketball game at Chichester tonight will include Zip Gelsler, Mike Carpio, Ben Bell, Joe Spitzer, forwards; Joe Conroy, center; Don Boyce, Bert Streeter and Jimmy Bradford, guards.

Chichester will play Grant and Zimmerman, forwards; Oscher and Malloy, center; Lee, Craig and Janzen, guards.

In the preliminary, between girls teams from Kingston and Chichester, the Kingston A. A. will be composed of Mary Butler, Lois Tremper, Betty DeWitt, forwards; Mabel Henderson, center; Mary Stahl, Eleanor Isaacson, Kay Carro, guards.

Next Tuesday at White Eagle hall the Kingston A. A. girls will play the Dukes. Both teams are members of the Y. W. C. A. League.

New Tennis Talent

Sport Slants

To be a successful tennis player, the best training menu, according to Arthur Hendrix of Lakeland, Fla., is southern Davis Cup possibility on the northern horizon. Is a varied sports career—football, baseball, basketball, track.

"Probably the prime benefit, in addition to numerous others, is the old competitive spirit that issues from other sports," said Hendrix soon after he dusted off Bryan M. (Bilby) Grant of Atlanta in the semi-finals of the fourth annual Miami Biltmore tennis championships.

"You can't play topnotch tennis, no matter how fast your service might be or how swell your backhand, until you get the feeling that you've got to win regardless of what else happens. A lot of tennis players let a couple of bum line calls get their 'nanny' and then quit trying to win."

"But watch an all-round athlete play tennis! He's in there battling until he's lost the last point, no matter how the breaks go, because he's had bad breaks before and they only make him try harder."

Hendrix, radiating the upper strata of tennis in a drive which he hopes will draw Davis Cup attention, boxed over Wilmer Allison, No. 1 in the national rankings for 1935 at New Orleans, before taking the measure of Grant, now No. 3, in Coral Gables.

All-Around Athlete

A rangy boy of 23 years, Hendrix played football, basketball and baseball four years at Southern College, Lakeland.

"Basketball, perhaps, is the best sport to coordinate with tennis," he continued. "It teaches you balance and timing, and they are two factors that come in handy on the tennis court. All the other sports build up stamina and, most of all, give a fellow the will to play so hard that he's more difficult to beat at his tennis game."

Unranked nationally, Hendrix plans a stiff program this year before going to the national try his skill in America's fastest tennis company.

"I've got a fair backhand," he remarked, "but my forehand's the real improvement, as I'll never get anywhere on grass until I develop a forehand. I know, too, that I must have a decent grass game before making any progress toward the Davis Cup team. I'll play the eastern grass circuit next summer, but am pretty pessimistic, because southern boys usually aren't any good on the turf. We don't get enough grass court activity down here."

Hendrix's tennis formula served him well in the winter tournament, taking him past Grant, until he struck a jinx foe—young Charles Harris of West Palm Beach, Fla., No. 17 in the new U. S. rankings.

Harris made it four straight tournament victories over Hendrix as he stroked the Lakeland youth out in the finals, 6-4, 6-0, 2-6, 6-2. Harris had been Hendrix's nemesis in the Florida championships, Central Florida championships and Kentucky State championships.

King Plays Incognito

King Gustav of Sweden, now in his 78th year, still plays a commendable game of tennis, but his partners seldom realize it until afterwards.

The king recently competed as plain "Mr. G" for the Royal tennis club against a rival club, and as he walked to the courts with his double partner, he said: "I hope you don't mind playing with an 'old un' like me."

His partner, not suspecting the identity of his fellow-player, assured "Mr. G" to the contrary. And his assurance became doubly warm as "Mr. G." with brilliantly placed lobs and tricky shots at the net, helped drive their younger opponents off the court, 6-1, 1-6, 6-2. Only after the match was ended did it become known that "Mr. G." was His Majesty King Gustav.

Poughkeepsie Races To Be Rowed June 22

According to an announcement by Maxwell Stevenson, chairman of the board of stewards, the annual intercollegiate rowing regatta will be rowed on the Hudson at Poughkeepsie, Monday, June 22.

Columbia, Cornell, Navy, Pennsylvania and California will undoubtedly send crews.

It is considered possible that Princeton may compete this year, as the Olympic trials will be rowed over the Princeton course ten days later.

The Olympic distance is but a mile and a quarter—about a third of the distance rowed in the annual race on the Hudson.

RHINEBECK A. C. DEFEATS SAUGERTIES A. A. 40 TO 27.

The Saugerties A. A. recently went to Rhinebeck, where they were beaten by the Rhinebeck team 46 to 27.

The over the river boys, who claim to be champions of Dutchess county, took the first half 20 to 18, but Saugerties did better the second half and out-scored their opponents by one point for the half.

Asher of Rhinebeck scored 15 points, including eight goals from the field. Eckhoff, center, was high man for Saugerties, with six fields and two from the line.

Tonight, the Rhinebeck team comes to Saugerties for a return game.

Will Look for "White Hopes" at Madison Square Garden Tonight

New York, Jan. 24 (AP).—They'll be looking for a "white hope" again at Madison Square Garden tonight, but there seems to be little, if any, likelihood that a heavyweight will turn up who will prove capable of halting the meteoric rise of dusky Joe Louis.

The principal event of the card is the first appearance of France's contribution to the "hope" list, Andre Leglet. He is slated to oppose the durable German, Hans Birkie, in the main ten rounder.

One of the preliminaries also is attracting a lot of attention, a six round battle between Frankie Connolly of Boston and Jorge Brescia of Argentina, two of the bigest heavyweights now in circulation.

Leglet comes into the Garden strictly as an "unknown" although his record shows 47 victories in 48 starts. His only fight which means much to American fans was against the ageing but still clever Tommy Loughran. That ended in a draw.

Birkie is listed among those who beat the heavyweight champion, Jimmy Braddock, before Jimmy won the title. He had his crack at Louis round ago and lasted until the tenth round before losing by a technical knockout.

The 240 pound Connolly and 210-pound Brescia are listed among the brightest as well as the biggest prospects on the card of heavyweights although neither has qualified for the "big time" ranks yet.

Connolly has scored three quick knockouts in as many appearances in the Garden. Two other ten round affairs bring together Eddie Simms of Cleveland and Charlie Manera of Pittsburgh and a pair of New York youngsters, Bob Foster and Al Delaney.

McVey Fights April 2

Jack McVey, the British light heavyweight whose appearances here a few months ago caused a considerable commotion, has been signed for a title bout with John Henry Lewis, the 175-pound champ in the Garden April 2. The terms were made yesterday and the New York State Athletic Commission is expected in due time to approve Tuesday.

McVey, now in England for a visit, is due to return in a few weeks.

McVey holds the British middleweight and light heavyweight titles, and has given good account of himself in both classes here. He was crowned Al McCoy of Boston, a good light heavyweight, and knocked out Duke Rask, the middleweight titleholder, in one round of an over-weight match.

Lewis, an Arizona negro who has done most of his fighting in the west, won the crown from Bob Olin last October, and since then has been outboxed by Max Baer, the former champion.

Phillies Ready to Make Player Deals, If They Are Profitable

(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Philadelphia, Jan. 21 (AP).—Jimmy Wilson, Gerry Nuzzi and company of the National League Phillies will be standing behind their trading counter, open for any kind of player deals, provided they're profitable—at the big league spring meeting next month.

Two of the smartest traders in the business, the veteran catcher-manager and the genial club president will swap almost anybody on the Phillies' roster, if they think the transaction will pan out for them.

Wilson confirmed that fact today, but refused to "name names," even when asked if first baseman Dolph Camilli and pitcher Curt Davis were among those up for sale or barter.

He did make clear, however, that the other clubs, particularly the Giants and Chicago Cubs, will have to offer "something more than nothing" for his players.

The Giants could have had Camilli, Jimmy explained. "They wanted him—but they wanted him for nothing."

"The same thing goes for the Cubs, if they want Curt Davis and are willing to return Chuck Klein to us."

Jimmy's word came the first confirmation from the Phillies of the rumored deals involving Camilli's proposed sale to New York and the transaction involving Davis, Klein and the Cubs.

The reports have had the Giants seeking Camilli to take over Manager Bill Terry's place at first base. Recently, however, Giant officials have said the Phillies have too much for the California youngster.

But the Phillies' trading plans don't stop there. Wilson emphasized that a suitable offer can have almost any man in his lineup.

"I don't know yet who will go," he said. "We'll be at the spring meeting to trade, and we'll see then what will happen."

"We have some likely looking youngsters coming up this year, so we'll have plenty of material."

Sizing Up the Most Likely Walker Cup Team Candidates

By BOB CAVAGNARO, Associated Press Sports Writer.

New York, Jan. 24 (AP).—The west and southwest appear to have a decided bulge on other sections of the country in the informal discussion of candidates for the 1936 Walker Cup team among members of the United States Golf Association executive committee.

There seems to be no dispute over awarding the honor of captain and designation of No. 1 player to Husky Lawson Little of San Francisco. There is, however, a feeling in some quarters that the veteran Francis Ouimet should be placed in charge for purposes of stability and so that he can impart some of his experience in previous international team matches to the younger players.

The executive committee will not announce the team selections until its spring meeting in April, but all signs point to a definite trend toward youth for the lineup in sharp contrast to the 1934 contingent which included Ouimet, Chandler Egan and Max Marston.

Dividing them by sections, the Pacific coast offers two candidates; the midwest six, the southwest four, and the east and south three apiece for the nine-man team and the two-day competition against a British side at Pine Valley, N. J., next September.

In addition to Little, the far west puts up as a candidate Albert (Scotty) Campbell to Seattle. A product of public links, the red-headed Campbell has established himself as one of the ablest match players on the continent although he never has flashed his best form in the national amateur.

He won the Canadian amateur title in 1933 and 1934 and was medalist in the U. S. Public Links Championship two years ago. Johnny Goodman, Walter Emery, Charles (Chuck) Koestel, Pat Sawyer, Jack Westland and Maurice McCarty, Jr., are the leading hopefuls on the Western Golf Association's roster. Goodman and Emery, the former intercollegiate monarch, who pressed Little in the final of the 1935 amateur, are conceded the best chance of landing berths.

The southwest, which established itself in golf last fall and is steadily gaining an equally firm grip on golf, offers Dave (Spec) Goldman, Smith Reynolds, Jack Munger and Ed White, the reigning college champion. They're all Texans and Smith, of extra-hole fame in the 1934 championship, and White are looked upon as the biggest prospects.

Goldman last year played below the standard he displayed at Brookline two years ago before he lost to Little in the final.

Bobby Riegel, 1935 southern amateur winner, Charley Yates, ex-intercollegiate champion, and Freddie Haas of Louisiana State, loom as the south's outstanding nominees. The last, weaker than ever before, has George Dunlap and George Voigt of New York and Joe Lynch of Boston.

Of the 16 players only Little, Dunlap, Westland, Voigt and Goodman have had previous experience in international links warfare. For the present, at least, it appears only Little and Goodman are "set for" places on the team. That it would seem logical for the U. S. G. A. to put on Ouimet and perhaps another veteran such as Egan to give the team poise and balance.

Rotary Boys' Athletic League

Thursday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. games in basketball, hockey and in soft ball were played in the Rotary Boys' Athletic League. In basketball, the Shooting Stars defeated the Red, White and Blues by a score of 8-2. Going the Rangers for first place in the League, the Rangers won their hockey match easily scoring 11 points to 2 for the Eagles. In softball the Red, White and Blues swamped the Ravens by a count of 4-1.

The standings in the league are as follows:

Little in the final.

New Role Makes Chiang Dictator Of China

These poses illustrate activities of versatile Chiang Kai-shek, whose recent elevation to the premiership, coupled with his command of the army, makes him the most powerful figure in China. From left he appears as (1) the politician and apostle of the happier life, (2) the generalissimo taking a salute on parade, (3) the commander in the field watching his troops attack and (4) the orator.

By C. Y. McDANIEL

Nanking, (AP)—After 12 years of ups and downs in the political and military arenas of China, General Chiang Kai-shek has forsaken his "power-behind-the-throne" role to become virtual dictator of the world's most populous country.

Obscure until his 35th year, the Japanese-educated army subaltern who took only a minor part in the republican revolution in 1911 and a few years later forsook the army to become a broker, today commands an army of 1,000,000, is premier of the national government and is the dominating personality in China's one recognized political party, the Kuomintang.

The roles combine to make him chief figure in the struggle to maintain for 400,000,000 people a national existence that began 5,000 years ago.

Fights Way To Power.

When Sun Yat-sen, father of the republic, died in 1925, his mantle fell upon no one pair of shoulders. Chiang emerged out of the confusion of resulting factionalism in 1927 when he headed a southern army that drove northward, overthrew war lords right and left and established the nationalist government at Nanking.

The growing power of the successful soldier made some bitter enemies for Chiang. They found their opportunity in 1931 when the government failed to do anything about Japan's action in Manchuria and Chiang lost his executive positions.

Wife Helps Restoration.

But his enemies found no way to stop the Japanese and cried for his return. He came back as chief of the army, directing campaigns against Communists and bandits in the interior. Also he began to mend his political fences.

Through his second wife who had brought about his baptism in the Methodist church, he organized a moral and social welfare drive which gained him more prestige than he could win in battle.

Through an erstwhile political opponent, Sun Fo, son of the 1911 revolutionist, he put through a draft constitution calling for a super-powerful president with military qualifications possessed only by Chiang Kai-shek.

That constitution is due to go into effect before the end of 1936.

Crucial Times Ahead.

The big obstacles remaining in Chiang's path are Japan's political, commercial and territorial ambitions. If China surrenders to these, his own people may rise against him. If China resists and meets almost certain defeat, there will be no national government for Chiang or anyone else to head.

Chiang virtually summed up the whole thing a few days ago when a delegation of students came to him shouting that China should fight Japanese aggression. He replied:

"If you want to fight, join the army!"

Kingston: "His Family Tree," the story of a mayoralty campaign which is based on the changing of the candidate's name from Murphy to Murrfee. James Barton does some excellent acting in this comedy put out by RKO-Radio. The accompanying feature is "Too Tough to Kill" starring Victor Jory.

Broadway: "In Person" is an RKO-Radio cinema. It is fast paced comedy showing the deflation of a conceited movie queen (Ginger Rogers) by a he-man with a sense of humor (George Brent). Allan Mowbray and Joan Breslau are in the picture, too.

Orpheum: "Hitch Hike Lady" and "Revenge Rider." In the first picture Alison Skipworth is an English lady thumbing her way to Hollywood, meeting hoboes, gangsters and undesirable on her trip across the country. The picture is considered one of Miss Skipworth's funniest and most enjoyable pictures. Supporting the featured star is a cast including Mae Clarke, Arthur Treacher, Jimmy Wilson, Warren Humer and Beryl Mercer. The accompanying feature, "Revenge Rider," is a western thriller with Tim McCoy as the outstanding performer.

Tomorrow

Broadway: "Captain Blood," a tale of piracy on the high seas. It is acknowledged to have taken its place among the classic stories of adventure written in the last century. The picture produced by Cosmopolitan Productions was filmed on an amazingly lavish scale. Sixteenth century cities and villages have been reconstructed; pirate galleons, slave ships and English and French war vessels, complete in every detail are shown in terrific battle action; the contending thousands of players, kings, colonial governors, nobles, slaves, peasants, pirates and peons in a work of remarkable artistry. Heading the cast are two young film players whose work will undoubtedly set them among the leading stars of the cinema. These are Errol Flynn, the young English actor, who is Captain Blood, and Olivia de Havilland, the young high school girl discovered by Max Reinhardt and who scored a personal triumph as Hermia in his production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream." The story opens with the rebellion of the Duke of Monmouth against King James, touches on the wholesale hangings and enslavement of rebels at the order of the cruellest of English chief justices, Lord Jeffreys, then sweeps to the slave plantations of the West Indies, to pirate ships cruising the seas and scuttling richly laden vessels, to fierce sea battles and the sacking of Port Royal.

Kingston: "I Dream Too Much." This is the picture in which Lily Pons, glorious star of operatic fame, makes her debut on the silver screen. The story is one of a young married couple struggling to reach the top in a world of disappointment. Jerome Kern, composer of "Roberta," is the author. Miss Pons is supported by Henry Fonda, Eric Blom and Osgood Perkins in this RKO-Radio picture which is a musical treat.

Orpheum: Same.

Youth Held Up by Two Negroes This Morning

Theodore Letus, who resides at the corner of Wilbur avenue and West O'Reilly street, has been employed by the city in aiding to remove the snow from the streets. This morning he left home shortly before 7 o'clock to report for work at the municipal barn and while near the golf links entrance he was held up by two negroes. All that Letus had with him was a package of cigarettes and the Negroes relieved him of the cigarettes. They demanded money, but the young man had none with him. The holdup was reported to the police but the two negroes made good their escape.

IS YOUR SPINE IN LINE?

Perfect alignment of the spine means perfect health. Imperfect alignment means that one or more of the vertebrae of the spine are out of the natural position. This produces pressure on the delicate nerves at the point where they leave the spine. Because of this the brain cannot get the full amount of life force over them.

Whatever part of the body, whether it is the heart, stomach, lungs, kidneys, etc., that is supplied by a pinched nerve, is bound to be weak, because every cell in the body receives its life force over the nervous system, and if the nerve is pinched this life force is decreased.

Chiropractic Adjustments will put your spine in line and health follows.

Connecticut Less Cold.

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 24 (AP)—The mercury eased a trifle throughout Connecticut during the last twenty-four hours, but the weather man continued today to forecast a cold wave with only "slowly rising temperatures."

At the New Haven weather bureau branch today the temperature at 2 a. m. was four above. Four degrees above seemed to stand as the lowest reading officially in Eastern Connecticut, except for Bridgeport, which reported zero
